

Biological Primary Types in the Auckland Museum.

By A. W. B. POWELL, Assistant Director.

This list of type material in the Auckland Museum includes only holotypes, or the equivalent neotypes, in cases where the holotype is definitely known to be lost. In the case of the late Mr. T. F. Cheeseman's nudibranchiate mollusca where no types of these soft-bodied animals were preserved the excellent water colour drawings of the living type material by Miss E. Cheeseman are here designated as iconotypes. The iconotypes thus designated are Aclesia glauca, Chromodoris amoena, C. aureomarginata, Doridopsis citrina, Doris flabellifera, D. luctuosa, D. rubicunda, Melanochlamys cylindrica, Pleurobranchaea novaezelandiae and Pleurobranchus ornatus. In the case of Melanochlamys cylindrica, a spirit specimen from Takapuna, Auckland, is nominated as neotype of the species. Neotypes of the other species will be nominated when suitable specimens are collected.

Jordan and Evermann's Makaira zelandica (1926, Occ. Papers Calif. Acad. Sci. 12, p. 66) was described as "Type: No. 611, Mus. Calif. Acad. Sci., a photograph received from Mr. Gilbert Archey, Curator of Auckland Museum, of a specimen taken in the Bay of Islands, New Zealand." Type in this case is merely a "phototype," and since the actual mounted specimen from which the photograph was taken is still in the Auckland Museum, this specimen must be cited as the holotype.

The type of Paryphanta lignaria Hutton is not in the Canterbury Museum and is presumably lost. A specimen from Moki-hinui, West Coast (Powell 1930, Rec. Auck. Inst. Mus. 1, Pl. 4, fig. 1) is designated as neotype.

The holotypes of six species are missing from the collections, but their names are listed, as it is possible that they may yet be found. They are:—

INSECTA: Carposina sanctimonea Clark, 1926; Coxelus xanthonyx Broun 1910; Mallobathra memotuina Clark, 1934; and Rhynchogonus planidorsis Broun, 1910.

MOLLUSCA: Tainia aucklandica Marshall, 1926, and Trochus carmesinus Webster, 1908.

The total number of published holotypes (including neotypes and the Cheeseman iconotype drawings) is 1,218. Of this number 182 are in the Powell loan collection of mollusca, and these are indicated by an asterisk. In all cases the entries are generically alphabetic under Phyla, and as originally published. Many of them are now located in different genera and in some instances the species has since been relegated to synonymy. Fossils are preceded by the symbol †.
